PRESENTER INFORMATION

KRISTOPHER CHANDLER, ESQUIRE

Kris Chandler is an associate in Benesch's Intellectual Property/3iP Practice Group and the Regulated Industries Group. Kris has experience dealing with complex corporate transactions, preparing trademark filings, negotiating contractual relationships, and providing comprehensive advice on corporate and regulatory matters. He is well versed in counseling clients in highly regulated industries. Kris has experience in governmental licensure programs and providing guidance to clients looking to operate successful businesses while being compliant with all applicable laws and regulations. Kris has years of experience with the executive and legislative branches of Ohio government.

As a JD/MBA, Kris is trained to not only provide expert legal advice but also practical business advice to clients. Kris has experience in counseling clients looking to expand their business through strategic growth initiatives and assisting clients in efficient implementation of business strategy.

BRIAN DePEW, ESQUIRE

Brian has been in practice since 2010 and is a member of Benesch's Health Care & Life Sciences and Regulated Industries Practice Groups and advises clients on all aspects of health care law and legal and regulatory implications incident to the formation and operation of entities engaged in medical marijuana programs. He has practiced both privately and served as former Assistant General Counsel for Adena Health System. Brian brings unique perspective and insight to clients, whether managing health care related litigation, including medical malpractice and employment claims, or addressing regulatory and compliance matters.

Brian's experience includes handling fraud and abuse compliance, advising and representing clients before administrative and licensing bodies, addressing HIPAA matters, negotiating, drafting and enforcing physician contracts and agreements, and drafting hospital and medical staff policies. Brian also handled a variety of general matters at Adena and in private practice, including drafting real property transaction documents and counseling on human relations matters, making him a well-rounded resource for his clients.

He also previously operated a general practice law firm where he focused on business transactions and litigation, and prior to that, he served as an extern with the Ohio Hospital Association.
